WE GATHER IN GOD'S NAME

Prelude

O God, Our Help

William Croft
Arr. Gordon Young

Welcome

Opening Prayer (unison)

Holy God, we need your courage to keep practicing your way of love and reconciliation. Help us stay the course when we want to give up. Stir our hearts, move our feet, rock our world. We're ready, we're willing, we're open. Help us to keep changing ourselves so we can partner with you in changing the world into your Beloved Community. We pray in Jesus' name. Amen.

Call to Worship Responsively

Lord, you have been our dwelling place;

We come today to rest in you.

You have been the voice that guides us;

We come today to listen

You have been the host who feeds us;

We come today to be filled.

You have been our joy and crown;

We come today to sing your praise!

Opening Hymn 409 God is Here!

Prayer of Confession

We know that our sins are too heavy for us to carry, too real to hide, and too deep to undo. But we also know that you can lift that weight from us and transform our lives. So we lift our prayer of confession to you.

The Lord be with you. Also with you. Let us pray:

Merciful God, we confess that once again we have missed the mark of walking in your way. We've made mistakes. We've made missteps. We've hurt people by action and inaction. We have wounded creation by action and inaction. We have chosen our ways over yours. And if the sum total of what we have done and what we have not done, has not brought glory and honor to you, then we ask that you turn us towards the way of justice and peace. Forgive our past and shape our future that we might bear witness to your realm of shalom.

In the strong name of Christ, we pray.

Silent Prayer

Assurance of Forgiveness

Hear the good news! Who is our God?

The Holy One, who is slow to anger and abounding in steadfast love.

The mercy of the Lord is from everlasting to everlasting.

We are forgiven, rescued, and redeemed.

Alleluia! Thanks be to God. Amen.

Praise 582 (v.1) Glory to God, Whose Goodness Shines on Me

Glory to God, whose goodness shines on me,
And to the Son, whose grace has pardoned me,
And to the Spirit, whose love has set me free.
As it was in the beginning , is now and ever shall be. Amen.

Sharing the Peace of Christ

The peace of Christ be with you. And also with you.
Worshippers on Zoom may unmute themselves and share the peace.)

+Advent Choral Service

The Takoma Park Presbyterian Church Choir and Friends will present Antonio Vivaldi's *Gloria for service on December 3, 2023 at 11:00 a.m. Although this much-loved choral work was probably written around 1715, it remained relatively unknown until its revival in 1939 when it was presented in an Italian performance by Alfred Casella.

Since then, it has enjoyed a well-founded popularity that now places it second only to Handel's Messiah as a special Christmas choral event. Written for soprano and contralto soloists, choir and orchestra, it subdivides the traditional words of the Gloria from the Roman Catholic Mass into twelve short movements, bringing a Baroque freshness and perspective to their meaning.

This work will be supplemented by two Christmas carols written by James Bingham: O Jesus Sweet and Dormi Jesu, the second of which is taken from the larger work, Procession and Carols.

All works will have orchestral accompaniment.

Please plan to attend this special service and encourage your friends to come with you.

Month at the Migrant Resource Center

Ruth Noel and her husband, Ray Nosbaum volunteered at the Migrant Resource Center (MRC) in Agua Prieta, MX, in September 2023. While in Douglas-Prieta, they stayed in Douglas, AZ at the Frontera de Cristo office, a Presbyterian border mission.

Helping at the Migrant Resource Center (MRC) was a lesson in expecting the unexpected, in how to be present in the moment, and in being flexible so we could remain full of gratitude. When we arrived at MRC for our shift, we could never be sure who or what situations we would encounter.

During a regular shift, usually 4 hours, there are times when no migrants entered allowing time to sort, fold and organize donated clothing and do a thorough cleaning of the center, especially the bathroom. There is also time to talk with fellow volunteers and staff and mutually share about our lives as well as the background on current circumstances affecting migration, especially circumstances directly impacting the situation at MRC. There were also entertaining times when we all tried to eliminate the flies (The joke being that for each fly gone; seven come for the funeral.)

Other times it was so busy that we rarely sat. We would orient new migrants to both the free services of the center and about the process of seeking asylum in the USA. We regularly encouraged migrants to apply for entry into the USA through the CPB One app. We would show migrants the locations on the US maps where their family members and sponsors lived. There was coffee to make; beans to cook, puree, re-heat, and then sandwiches to make; giving out food and washing dishes; providing first aid and medicines for minor ailments; helping migrants choose a change of clothing before showering; ensuring they had a dry towel, soap and shampoo to shower; showing them the setup for washing and hanging clothes out to dry; boiling water for a baby or young child's bath and more.

We strove to be fully present, listening to those who chose to share their stories, hope, gratitude, frustration, fears, pain, grief or occasionally anger.

At times we could join the children who were thrilled to be active and have fun—swing on the swings, use dominos as building blocks, laughter when the structure fell, to run around, play soccer or toss a football, color in coloring books, or on the cement patio with chalk including playing tic tac toe and hopscotch.

Mixed in among all of this were visitors coming to learn of the work of MRC; to bring donations of clothing, food and or supplies; or to seek assistance in how to locate family members who entered the USA when they had no or disturbing news about family members who were now separated from them. While engaged in these direct and immediate activities, we were constantly trying to understand the position/role of MRC in the context of the whole USA/Mexican migrant picture and trying to make the MRC a beacon of light for migrants who pass through Agua Prieta.

As we returned each day to Douglas on the US side, we would pass by the migrants living on the street whom we had served at the MRC. Of course, they would see us. What did they feel seeing us pass so easily because we were US citizens and could go where we wanted.

Now back at home, Ray resumes working with CHEER in the Long Branch community to maintain affordable housing for those impacted by the Purple Line which will bring increased housing and other costs. We wonder what it must be like for the many immigrants who live in this community to again experience or relive the trauma of getting here as economic forces may yet again displace them.

We remember the joy of constantly being with others in-person, not on-line, building relationships. Now at home, we try to continue being in-person as we share stories of our experiences volunteering at MRC and letting folks know what a privilege it is to get know, share and learn from the dedicated and amazing people we met--whether staff, volunteers or migrants. We were and remain grateful for how accepting and generous local staff and volunteers were towards us!
